Introduction

Crazy Make 'Em Ups™ is the party game of bad decisions! The gameplay is very loose and open to interpretation so you can decide exactly how much fun you want to have.

It should be ALL the fun. Unless you are boring. Then you should go back to that Apples to Apples® knock off.

Setup

[get some friends]

You can play with as many people as you want, but we've found that 6 +/- 2 is the ideal number. We don't recommend playing alone. Shit gets weird.

[make a draw deck]

You can play with as many or few cards as you want, however we recomend making a draw pile of 5 cards per person. example: if you have 5 players, shuffle the deck and put 25 cards at random into a draw pile (or bowl). Protip: A bowl for draw and another for discard will make your life easier.

[pick a captain]

Pick a player to become the Captain using whatever criteria you think is fair: The host, the person with the pointiest ears, the biggest hooters, the most chest hair, the least pubic hair...whatever.

See "The Captain" for more info on the Captain.

Gameplay

Do the Stuff

Players take turns drawing cards and following the instructions on them. Unless otherwise noted, the person who draws the card does the action. You can draw any card from the draw pile; it doesn't need to be the top one. If you really don't want to do the action, you don't have to. Just discard the card and end your turn.

If a card with a [blank] is pulled, ask another player to verbally fill in the blank, but DO NOT let them know what is on the card. Then read the card out loud with their suggestion.

For example if the card says:

"____[name]____ drinks." Ask another player for a name, and then read it out loud using the name given (preferably the name of someone playing the game).

If you draw a charades card or other secret card, make sure someone whispers the [blank] to you. Otherwise everyone will know you are not smart, and you will feel shame.

Keep playing until the cards are gone. Then play again with new cards or keep your favorites in!

The Captain

The Captain gets to resolve any disputes about how the cards are interpreted. The Captain also draws 2 cards each turn and decides which one to play. They put the unchosen card back in the draw pile. Don't worry, the Captain changes throughout the game.

The Trophies Υ

You keep trophy cards in your hand rather than discarding them. Once all the cards have been played, the person with the most trophy cards becomes the Captain for the next game. Some people might call this winning. We don't. We just play for fun and competitiveness is generally frowned upon.

If there is a tie for the most trophy cards, pick a new Captain based on whatever criteria you want: Rock/Paper/Scissors, most naked, most intelligible, best tin foil hat...you get the idea.

Winning and Failing to Win

This isn't a game you win. You play for fun, and that's it. The game isn't over until the last card is played. If you want to call the person with the most trophy cards the "winner," that's your business.

This Kinda Matters

You will frequently be told to put a card in your hand. This means you hold on to it for the duration specified. Sometimes it is a number of rounds; sometimes there is a condition to be met; sometimes it's until the end of the game. You don't actually need to keep them in your hand. Putting them on the table in front of you is ok, too

Still Need Help?

Check the FAQ's on our website http://crazymakeemups.com or send an email to support@uuddgames.com, and we'll answer any questions you might have!

Remember, the game is played just for fun, and outside the box interpretations of the cards are encouraged! We leave it open-ended on purpose so your group can agree on what you think is the most fun way to play!

Supplies

The box contains everything you need to play the game, but you might want to supply:

• snacks • aluminum foil • scrap paper

adult beverages advanced adult beverages

• friends with a morally casual attitude • writing tools
